By HENRY SHAPIRO
MOSCOW, Nov. 20.—(BUP)—The government newspaper Izvestia said today that the Soviet victory at Ordzhonikidze, where more than 20,000 Germans were killed or wounded and the remainder routed, was the beginning of a Russian winter offensive that would hit the Axis along the entire 2,000-mile front.

Soviet forces were hotly pursuing the remnants of the routed German army through the central Caucasus, following the momentous victory on the approaches of Ordzhonikidze, south-east of Makhach.

Front dispatches reported that the Red Army has captured a mountain southeast of Makhach and were attempting to round up and exterminate the Germans from whom they had captured huge quantities of equipment.

SUPPLIES MOVE THROUGH TO ALASKA

Formal Ceremonies Opening Alcan Highway Attended by Dignitaries of Two Countries

By LORNE BRUCE
KLUANE LAKE, Y.T., Nov. 20.—(CP)—Military supplies will move overland to Alaska from the interior of North America for the first time today immediately after formal ceremonies opening the 1,600-mile Alaskan Highway held at nearby Soldiers Summit and attended by representatives of the Canadian and American armies and of the governments of both countries.

Setting for the formalities was Soldiers Summit, named by men of the United States Corps of Engineers and a scene of great beauty. The summit is on the peaks of the St. Elias Mountains towering over the road. The road, a completed section of the Klondike Highway, is 14,000 feet above sea level.

North into the legendary Yukon wilderness shoots the 1,600-mile highway in Alaska, built in record time by U.S. Army engineers. From Dawson Creek, "end of steel" where the highway crossed the Yukon River, it winds through hills and forests, over ice and mud, to the Alaskan coast at Fairbanks. Reached to completion in a winter, the Alcan highway will permit the year-round motor traffic to the possessions purchased 75 years ago from Russia. All previous transport was by ship and plane.

The Alcan highway, long-dreamed-of land bridge linking the United States, Canada and Alaska through the continent's northwest interior, was officially opened today with a ceremony on the Yukon-Alaska border. May of the highway shown above, while at left is Brig-Gen. James A. O'Connor, commanding general of the Northwest Service Command, U.S. Army, who is in direct charge of the highway; and at right is Penions Minister Ian Mackenzie, who represented the Canadian government at the formal opening and delivered a message from Prime Minister Mackenzie King. Mr. Mackenzie, together with Acting Governor of Alaska, E. L. Bartlett, cut the ribbons that officially marked the opening of the road.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Nov. 20.—(BUP)—Allied forces inflicted heavy losses today on the Axis armored forces in the eastern Tunisian coast. The Allied report, just released, indicates that virtually all of Tunisia may already be in Allied hands—with the exception of the small Bizerte-Tunis triangle.

Women Might Play Big Role in Legion Affairs

Will women form a large—possibly the largest—artistic force in Canada's war veterans' organizations of tomorrow? That such a state of affairs may exist is not just a possibility, it is highly probable.

Gen. DeWitt Sees Railway Need in North

By LORNE BRUCE

Union Won't Interfere in Mine Ruling

Declaring that the United Mine Workers of America's "miners' union" is "standing aside" in connection with the provincial government's decision to permit employment of partially-qualified men in Alberta coal mines, David Matheson, secretary-treasurer of Sub-District 3, U.M.W.A., said that the union would not take any action which would delay production of coal.

5 Men Killed, Many Trapped As Roof Falls

WELLAND, Ont., Nov. 20.—(CP)—Five men were killed, 25 others were hospitalized and from one to 10 men were still trapped in the wreckage of a building which collapsed today at the plant of the Alca Steel Company.

BIG AXIS MOVES SAID BREWING BY NAZI AGENCY

Gen. DeWitt added, however, that this "general" plan is to be constructed in this network of communications for this continent's northwest. It is not needed and could not be used to advantage until the distribution network from Fairbanks westward has been completed and is in operation.

Highway Vital Factor

The general plan in connection with the opening of the highway was addressed to Brig-Gen. James A. O'Connor, officer commanding the Northwest Service Command, who is in charge of the highway.

SWINGS CLOSER TO NAZIS

Petain Calls on French Africa
To Resist "Allied Aggression"

By ERNEST AGNEW
LONDON, Nov. 20.—(AP)—
—Marshal Philippe Petain called on all Frenchmen in North Africa last night "to resist the Anglo-Saxon aggression," and Fighting French sources here saw this as fresh evidence of Dictator Pierre Laval's calculated efforts to steer his country into outright military alliance with Germany.

The 86-year-old Marshal, who Wednesday gave Laval full political powers and designated him as his heir presumptive, said in a broadcast from Axis-occupied Vichy:

"Frenchmen: General officers in the service of a foreign power refused to obey my orders. General officers, non-commissioned officers, soldiers of the French army:
Do not obey these unworthy leaders."

REFERS TO DARLAN

The Marshal was referring to Admiral Jean Darlan, ousted successor to Petain and Laval's political enemy, who has gone over to the Allies in North Africa, and other French leaders such as Gen.
Henri Giraud, who escaped from a Nazi prison and then from Vichy to fight again.

"I celebrate to you the order to resist the Anglo-Saxon aggression," continued the aged marshal whose prestige derived mainly from fighting the Germans at Verdun in the First Great War.

"We live tragic hours. Disorder reigns in minds. You hear news which has no other aim but to injure and to weaken you."

"The truth, however, is simple.
It is necessary that you submit to the discipline that I exact from each of you or you endanger your country. You have but one government—that to which I have given the power to govern. You have but one country which is incarnate—France."

France now is plunged into a political and military turmoil as grave as the days of collapse in Germany in 1940. Frenchmen in Africa are flocking to the Allies, and the Moroccan radio reported that Gen.

Barre, French Tunisian commander, now is fighting against the Axis.
The radio said the Germans had fought.

Farnalls Heads
Municipal Units

CALGARY, Nov. 20.—(CP)—To serve for the 11th consecutive term as president of the association, delegates to the 24th annual convention of the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts, Thursday re-elected Paul Farnalls, Halkirk, for the 1943 term.

J. M. Wheatley, of Chumley, formerly a director of the organization, was chosen as vice-president.

Resolutions dealt with school grants and delegates have requested the provincial government to remove the cuts made in these grants to the school board and restore the grant to the amount paid in 1933.
The delegates also asked that the Mental Defectives act be amended so as to remove the liability of each city, town, village and municipal district for the maintenance of these persons.

Western Girls
Protest Wages
Paid in East

KITCHENER, Ont., Nov. 20.— (CP)—One hundred girls from Western Canada met here late last night to appoint a committee to interview the managements of three Kitchener rubber companies, which they said had brought them from the west on promises of wages that had not been paid.
Earlier last night four girls representing the group from the west were interviewed by Mayor Joseph Meininger and Aldermen A. J.

Cundick, Alfred Martin, T. H. Ainlay and J. G. Brown, appointed as a special committee by council to investigate the girls' complaints.
The girls told the committee they would have to apply to the relief office here unless they were given assistance. They criticized the selective service commission and James Ellis, a representative of three Kitchener companies, who went to Winnipeg to interview applicants for jobs.

U.S. Will Organize
Austrian Battalion

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—(AP)— —A new infantry battalion in the army of the United States to be made up entirely of citizens of Austria now living in the United States will be organized as soon as possible, War Secretary Henry Stimson announced today.

Today's War Moves

Has been shown since the start of the war. The Russians evidently feel that Hitler's vaunted 1942 offensive has passed its peak and that the initiative now rests in Russian hands.

Whether that view is justified should become apparent within a few weeks. The Germans already have been routed in the Central Caucasus, and if they are not able to make a comeback by the end of this month either there or in the highly-contested Stalingrad sector, there is little prospect that they can do so this winter.

PROSPECTS BETTER

At the best, Russia can start a general offensive as she did last December, with better prospects of success now that Hitler is so seriously threatened in the Mediterranean and in Europe itself. Such an offensive is predicted by Laval along the entire 2,000-mile front.

At the least, even if Hitler cannot be driven back into Europe, he will be tied up in Russia, unable to shift his forces to meet the menace in the west.

It makes a big difference to the course of the war. London military observers have expressed the conviction that Hitler cannot accept the present situation in the Mediterranean without attempting a counter-blow.

They have suggested a possible move through Turkey or through Spain towards Gibraltar. The latter course gained credence when Hitler occupied the remainder of France and set up Laval as a pro-Axis dictator.

GREAT DIFFICULTIES

The difficulties in either case are tremendous. It is a question whether Hitler can carry out a successful drive through Turkey or Spain without draining his resources from the Russian front and leaving him open to disaster there.

It is fairly certain that Turkey would resist with all its strength, which is considerable. The campaign might prove as difficult as the one in the Caucasus.

Spain also might resist, although probably not as effectively as Turkey. Hitler's main hope there is to bludgeon Dictator Franco into permitting passage so that he could race to Gibraltar and block the western end of the Mediterranean in the shortest possible time.

Nevertheless, even if he can contrive some way to use the French fleet and force the Italian navy into action, it is not apparent that Hitler can gain sea control in the Mediterranean. He already is out-matched in the air and probably would have to render himself almost defenceless in western Europe if he sent enough planes to gain even equality.

Increased Barber Rates Are Refused
VANCOUVER, Nov. 20.—(CP)— Canadian barbers' union has been refused permission by the federal government to "adjust" service rates throughout the dominion. C.
E. Herrell, first vice-president, said yesterday. Aim of the application was to bring the price of haircuts throughout the dominion to 50 cents, the rate generally prevailing in British Columbia.

Today's Sport Parade

By Jack Cuddy

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—(BUP)—Women turf followers will still provide at least one more prosperous racing season in the United States, our Track Oracle has predicted.

When the Oracle spoke, the reporters listened because his statements were as authoritative as sweeping as the cast black lines of his heavy brows and mustache, which an artist might have drawn with two lavish flourishes of the brush.

Our prophet is Edgar C. Horn, editor of the Turf and Sport Digest of Baltimore, Md.

Something new has been added to American racing in the last couple of years that is ultra-important in this war period. Here said "I mean the women fans—many of whom now are making as much money in defence plants as men. The girls on the shift go to the races in large numbers.

CONTRIBUTE $20,000.

HE was enthusiastic about the feminine fans during his conference with racing writers here, although he had a more pressing matter on his mind. He had come to New York to confer with the writers about the business of sending out ballots in the National poll that will determine whether Alaskan or Whiskey is the "horse of the year"—most heatedly debated issue in racing.

The turf expert was proud of the role that racing had played since Park Harbor. He emphasized that the "sport of kings" not only had provided a much-needed diversion for the war-concerned nation, but it had out-distanced by far any other sport in its contribution to war relief. He estimated that by Jan. 1, these contributions will approximate $2,000,000.

Speaking of racing in 1942 Horn said: "I believe it was the most prosperous year in turf history, even though the illegal tracks in California were not in operation."

AVERAGE $60 PER DAY.

DESPIRE transportation difficulties, mustel handles at most tracks set new records. I do not mean that the crowds were larger, because they were not. Attendance fell off some. But the people who went had more money to wager than in the past. Why? I can remember back in the 1930s when tracks could keep alive on bets of $12 per capita per day.

"But in this war year, I have estimated that each person who went to the tracks averaged an average of $60 per day. Virtually all tracks made money. In this connection, the only racing plant that is questionable is Saratoga. I have heard reports that Saratoga lost money. But these reports, as yet, have not been confirmed."

Horn, a middle-aged, middle-sized chap with a black hair, stressed that the current

Morey Rimstad Scores Two
As Bisons Trounce Capitals

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Buffalo's powerful Bisons, roaring along at the top of the western division of the American Hockey League, Thursday night gave Indianapolis Capitals their first defeat in a regularly-scheduled home game since Jan. 8, before 4,250 fans.

Fred Weaver shot Indianapolis into the lead at 6:02 of the first period, but Morey Rimstad of Edmonton tied it 1:15 minutes later.

What proved to be the winning goal came off the stick of Freddie Hunt at 17:29 in the second period.

Rimstad scored the final goal after Gerry Pallas had been withdrawn from the Capitals' lineup.

FOURTH STRAIGHT FOR PROVIDENCE
PROVIDENCE, R.I., Nov. 20.—(AP)—Ages paced by Ab Demarco, Providence Reds blanked New Haven Eagles 6-0 Thursday night to gain their fourth straight victory and advance to within a point of the eastern division lead in the American Hockey League's standings.

Demarco, who beat the Eagles alone singlehanded in New Haven last night, collected a goal and two assists. Aubuchon, Steele, with two, and Boothman and Browne scored the others.

Former Champion
Accident Victim
JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Nov. 20.—(CP)—Best Ford, former heavyweight boxing champion of the British Empire, who once lost to Max Baer in London, died of an "accidental" death on Sept. 28, it was decided at an inquest Thursday. Johannesburg was his home.

The report said Ford died of a "bullet wound in the head when a revolver which he was handling was discharged, probably accidentally."

I suppose the answer is: Be with a pen-and-ink-winner. Major league owners jailing at this time about next season's player limit comes under wasted words.

One school wants the present limit of 25 raised to 37. Another would limit active players to 20. The one argument is to have replacement for players lost to the armed forces. The other side proclaims economy of cost.

It has been a great year for racing, and next year should be good too," he declared. "The rapidly increasing number of women who attend the races were an important factor in this year's success."

Next year they will be all-important, and don't think for a minute that the girls use the old hat-pick system of picking or go for the colors worn by the jockeys. Now they study like big experts now and most of them can give lessons to the men in picking winners."

Canadians to Get Less News About Forces

OTTAWA, Nov. 20. (CP)—Canadians will know less about the movement of the army in Canada and its working as a result of instructions just sent to the news services and publications by the press censors.

"War developments in recent months have drastically changed the picture so far as Canadian troops on active service are concerned," the directive from the censor said.

"The defence set up in the Dominion has been considerably strengthened to meet the increasing possibility of attack on our shores, and certain sections of Canada, particularly the east and west coasts, now are in effect operational areas."

ENEMY INTERESTED

"It may be assumed that enemy intelligence now is even more interested in the nature and strength of defence formations in Canada than he is in the Canadian forces overseas since this latter category is only a part of the defence set up in Britain."

The result has been a tightening up on publication of scraps of information about the army from which the enemy intelligence service can glean nothing of value. The new directive brings news of the active service troops in Canada under almost the same restrictions as apply to news of the troops overseas.

One of the results of the revised directive is that Canadians probably will no longer know who commands the various divisions, except insofar as the names of the commanders already have been announced.

The enemy, the directive said, is anxious to learn the names of both divisions and brigade commanders, since with such information he is able to follow more easily the movements of such units and also, through knowledge of the character of the commanders, determine often what a given unit will do under given circumstances.

Units serving in British Columbia, the Maritime Provinces, Newfoundland, Labrador and territory bordering the Gulf and River St.

THE WAR IN THE PACIFIC

By JOHN COLLINGWOOD READE

The combined forces of the United States, operating in the Southwest Pacific, have won a very important victory. In doing so, they have taught Japan that further extension of the Japanese military influence is out of the question. The American victory is not an important step toward the reconquest of territory now held by the Japanese, but it probably marks the end of the period of defensive fighting in the Pacific. The work of clearing up the Japanese establishments on the Japanese Peninsula has been completed. The Japanese is moving ahead, and when this job is completed it should be possible to acquire control of all the islands which lie on the north-eastern approach to Australia. This done, the work of preparing a genuine offensive against the Japanese can be undertaken without fear of interruption or intrusion.

The astounding feature of the campaign in the Southwest Pacific is the incredible folly of the enemy. We are beginning to learn that our enemies are very clever at executing military plans to which their best minds have devoted a lifetime of thought and study. But they are very bad at thinking on their feet if the plans go awry. The Japanese high command should have known better than to keep sending powerful naval forces into confined waters where they are subject to concentrated attack by land-based aircraft and can be opposed by surface forces of almost equal strength which are not impeded in their operations by the necessity of protecting convoys of merchant shipping.

A very sound appreciation of the strategic significance of the victory was made by the United States Secretary of the Navy. Colonel Knox points out that the Japanese fleet is operating in a limited area splendidly served by island bases and screened by distance and the proximity of land-based aircraft from attacks by the United States warships. The Japanese fleet is therefore in a position to be compelled to fight on the terms which themselves invite by pushing their fleet beyond its natural sphere of operations.

While the enemy has lost heavily in his contests with the combination of American sea and air power, his losses have only prevented him from carrying the war much further afield. They have hardly weakened his capacity to defend his newly won empire. But the operations, however, have revealed that weakness which is common to all Axis powers, namely, arrogance. The control and occupation of all the islands in the Southwest Pacific and the Japanese in the North Atlantic and the Pacific have been included in the Japanese plan. The plan was worked out in a very simple and direct manner. It was to be a series of implicit faith in the plan, and were so confident of their destiny that they were determined to fulfil the plan in all respects regardless of the consequences.

HIGH PRICE FOR STUBBORNNESS

They cannot believe that any part of their previous scheme was ill conceived or that the strength and resources of their enemies had been miscalculated. The consequence is that they are paying a high price for the stubborn conformity to their own designs that they are preserving the whole fabric of their grandiose schemes with disaster. They are behaving like Hitler, behaved last year before Moscow and Leningrad, and as he is behaving this year at Stalingrad. They are committing suicide.

It is probably time we stopped telling ourselves how terribly clever our enemies are. They are, in fact, as stupid as we appear by comparison. Our enemies are working according to a method. From the strategic point of view, all that is necessary is to understand the method and devise means of circumventing it or reacting in a manner unforeseen by the enemy. Once this is done, the enemy exposes his lack of flexibility and displays the weakness both of his imagination and his understanding.

Mr. Wilkie has got an idea which is neither very original nor, in his case, very well thought out. The idea is that folks should work together; that tyranny and despotism are not good things and that the world would be a good deal richer if all barriers to trade were removed. Mr. Wilkie has noticed that the world has become a very small place. Modern means of transportation have shrunk it into such small compass that Mr. Wilkie can get around it in a few days.

One of the disadvantages of these rapid means of transit is that it allows one to place with startling rapidity that one can circumnavigate the whole globe before one has time to notice anything that takes place in it, except, of course, between lunch and dinner.

At the moment, Mr. Wilkie is very angry at the British Prime Minister, who said that he did not become Prime Minister to preside over the liquidation of the British Empire. Mr. Churchill also said that he would hold our own.

This, in the opinion of Mr. Wilkie, shows a nasty ungenerous spirit. I have always had a feeling that sooner or later some dangerous gentleman with Wall Street affiliations would bring up the question of the rubber and tin resources in Malaya. Mr. Wilkie has been the first to brush the subject. Malaya, he says, ought to belong to the Malaysians—primitive folk who savage people think they may be. The tin and rubber would, therefore, accrue to these primitive and savage people, and so be available to all nations who could afford to buy them in the open market.

MEXICAN EXPROPRIATION

The matter is that Mr. Wilkie was not found among the cheering throngs who applauded the expropriation of American oil interests in Mexico. If it is rubber in Malaya, it is because Britishers and others acquired land in Malaya, laid out plantations, devised processes for tapping the latex, and installed machinery for treating it, built harbors for the world's shipping to enter and be loaded. It can hardly be said, therefore, that the rubber is the natural produce of the Malayan natives any more than the great Ford plant in India should naturally accrue to whatever clique of Hindu mystics can swing the most votes.

The world can agree that colonialism must steadily give place to self-determination by the native inhabitants of colonial territories. The British government in practice was putting into action what the Philippines were still being subjected to very drastic punitive treatment when they showed rebellious tendencies. But making the resources of the world available to the people of the world is not just a matter of taking away resources which were already in money and ingenuity in development. It is a matter of taking them away and handing them over to somebody else who has neither the capacity nor the inclination to manage them. It consists in what we know as the "open door" policy.

The open-door policy is practiced by the British in India, where Parsee merchants own and operate most of the large cotton mills, and where the citizens of every country in the world may own property and develop resources and trade freely so long as they do so without prejudice to the safety and good order of the country. No taxes are collected by the British government, only by the local administration. To the extent that the local administration is oppressive, it should be corrected. To the extent that the people who are living under colonial administration are desirous of governing themselves and are capable of doing so without persecuting their own minorities, exposing their territories and hence those of their neighbors to the danger of invasion, they should be enfranchised.

The British government is quite capable of carrying out these processes under any scheme of international cooperation which safeguards the integrity of national boundaries, and under any economic philosophy which would recognize a single nation, such as the United States, from securing a monopoly of the world's good and money, and thus ruling the world around with tariff barriers, as Mr. Wilkie would suggest.

What Mr. Churchill meant by his remark, which was obviously addressed to Mr. Wilkie, was that the British had no intention of relinquishing their obligations or submitting to an arbitrary transfer of their resources to the administration of interested parties with no regard for the safety and good order of the country.

In the interest of Anglo-American understanding and co-operation, these matters ought to be settled and the arguments on both sides heard. Mr. Wilkie has already succeeded in sowing the seeds of mistrust in a widespread fashion. He cast doubt when in Moscow, on the willingness of the allies to acquiesce and take sweeping offensive action; and now he is lending color to the whispering campaign of those who would make the American people believe that Britain is fighting not to win a free new world, but to restore a system of international feudalism and monopoly control of material resources.

Mass Evacuations Started at Genoa

LONDON, Nov. 20. (CP)—The Daily Express, in a dispatch dated from the Italian frontier, reports today that mass evacuations from Genoa have begun after the recent heavy bombings on that Italian port.

"Stations in the city and suburbs are crowded all through the daylight hours with people who have no idea of where to go. It is one of the trains that pull out with packed luggage racks," said the dispatch.

"There are bitter complaints that people at suburban stations have few chances of getting away. Train after train steams through without stopping, already loaded up, amid shouts and cries."

The dispatch added that the Genoa business newspaper Corriere Mercantile published a story saying that the Italian government is using "every means at their disposal for the speediest possible evacuation of civilians."

"Just Coincidence"

LONDON, Nov. 20. (CP)—Movie executives here figure that they must have given Lt. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower quite a jolt. Two nights before he left for North Africa he and his staff were invited to a private screening of some American films. The first by sheer coincidence, was "Road to Morocco."

The second was "The Battle of Britain," a picture which depicts the struggle for control of the Solomon Islands. This story is not yet finished, but has unfolded enough to demonstrate that the Japanese cannot obtain control of this area without bleeding to death in the attempt.

The Japanese government is quite capable of carrying out these processes under any scheme of international cooperation which safeguards the integrity of national boundaries, and under any economic philosophy which would recognize a single nation, such as the United States, from securing a monopoly of the world's good and money, and thus ruling the world around with tariff barriers, as Mr. Wilkie would suggest.

U.S. Will Double Plane Production

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20. (AP)—Under a mandate from President Roosevelt, the war production board yesterday announced plans to double the aircraft production of the United States within a year and save the gigantic task in a single administrator, Charles E. Wilson, former president of General Electric Company.

How many planes will be built was kept secret, but W.P.R. Chairman Donald M. Nelson said the industry will ultimately become a $200,000,000 one in American annual output. That is about seven times the pre-war production of the automobile industry.

Discussing the plan to double present monthly output by the time next year, Nelson said at a press conference:

"I believe it can be done. At the same time I believe we can improve the quality in our fighting planes. Experience on the fighting fronts has proved that quality counts even more than quantity."

Defend the Home Front with a Great Family Tonic

Now, more than ever before, we must protect the health of the home front—the backbone of the nation's war effort. For every member of the family, from Dad down to the youngest, the regular use of Scott's Emulsion is highly recommended as an important tonic and food supplement especially in these times of certain deficiencies.

This great year-round tonic contains vital build-up elements everyone needs—elements that develop strong bones and muscles, improve digestion, fortify the system against colds and common winter ills, and build up a stock of vigor and general well-being.

An exclusive method of emulsifying makes Scott's Emulsion 4 times easier to digest than plain cod liver oil. Pleasant-tasting, rich in natural Vitamins A and D, this tonic is highly recommended for all the family. Buy a large, economical bottle today—at all drug stores.

SPEAKS AT CALGARY Maynard Lists Benefits Large Municipal Plan: He Answers Criticisms

CALGARY, Nov. 20.—Reorganization of at least three more Alberta areas into large municipal units is planned at the beginning of 1943, according to a statement made by Hon. Lucien Maynard, K.C., Alberta minister of municipal affairs, at the 34th annual convention of the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts here Wednesday.

He added, however, that it was uncertain whether the change could be completed by the New Year. The regions affected would be Marwayne, Kitchissippi and Athabasca, he said. Five other large units already are in operation in the province.

Mr. Maynard made the announcement in reply to a question period which followed his address to the organization, outlining the government's position and policies regarding the large units.

REPLIES TO QUESTIONS
In reply to other questions, the minister declared:

None of the units will be set up before the first of the year, in accordance with the provisions in the legislature last winter.

The government will not hold any elections to determine whether or not a district is to be reorganized until after the first of the year.

Large units will be effected where the government considers it will be more advantageous than the local councils approve or not.

If any district is functioning to its greatest efficiency under the present set-up it will not be reorganized.

Reorganization of the northern part of the province has been resisted by the heavy snowfall, and the government "may have to concentrate on the south of the province."

Generally speaking, the government does not intend to include "improvement districts" in large units.

OPPOSITION
Opposition to the move towards large units was expressed from several quarters. One member termed the government action "Hillierism of the worst kind."

Mr. Maynard argued that formation of the large units had been the object of the plan since the government in 1936 and the government was bound to live up to its pledge. If not, the opposition parties would seize upon the government to promise election annihilation.

"It is a question of being damned if you do, and damned if you don't," said the minister.

One delegate said he did not see how the government could continue its election plank as a mandate to proceed with the proposal, and he was convinced that the majority of the people would turn down the large units in a plebiscite. His district had returned a Social Credit member but he would turn down the large units.

Mr. Maynard argued the converse was also true. Many men who voted against Social Credit might well favor the large units.

A delegate from M.D. Nelson said it was proposed to unite his district with two others and some improvement districts which "never" a selfish thing in itself.

Without the large units, he said, the district could cut its mill rate from 18 to 12, but with the large unit the rate would be 25 mills.

Delegates from the large unit of Sugar City declared the people here seemed "pretty well satisfied" with the new set-up.

When the proposal was first mooted, they had opposed it.

Speaks in South Municipalities Protest on Gas Ration System

CALGARY, Nov. 20.—(CP)—Charging numerous persons are taking advantage of regulations do not ration gas, a group of citizens used in trucks by using "light deliveries" for pleasure driving, the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts yesterday protested the present gas rationing system and recommended severe penalties for offenders.

A resolution passed at the second day of the organization's annual convention said some light deliveries "are not just being used for essential farm or business purposes, but for considerable pleasure driving, thus increasing the amount of gasoline unnecessarily."

URGENT CURTAILMENT
"All pleasure driving, both by truck and car, should be curtailed," it continued. "Numerous unpatented individuals even go so far as to use tractor gas in their cars. These persons should be penalized severely for this offense."

In another resolution on gasoline rationing, the association asked consideration be given to placing a person living from a centre of population within medical facilities are available.

Further reduction of the ration would deprive many farmers of several miles in the country of transport facilities, the resolution said.

Removal of the cuts made by the provincial government in school districts to enable the provision of necessary funds for education, the resolution said.

MENTAL ACT
Amendment of the Mental Defective Act to eliminate the liability of each city, town, village and municipal district for the maintenance of mental defectives.

Establishment by the provincial government of a bounty on coyotes, "such as becoming a serious menace to sheep breeders," at the rate of $5 for adults and $250 for pups during the period April 1 to Nov. 1. At present coyotes are paid $10 for each pup.

An attempt by the federal government to establish a price for Canadian farm produce on a par with prices in the United Kingdom.

Continuation of the payment of farm storage for wheat "at least to the extent of the total production which each farmer may deliver on or before July 31, 1943."

Provision by the provincial and federal government of loans to farmers to purchase land, to that which each would have received had he been able to complete his threshing operations and deliver his allowable quota to his delivery point.

CANADA-RUSSIA TRADE AGREEMENT IS MOOTED
CALGARY, Nov. 20.—(CP)—Canada should start at once to negotiate a trade agreement with Russia providing for the shipment of 300,000 cattle annually for 10 years to the Soviet, Donald G. McKenna, chief commissioner of the Board of Grain Commissioners, said convention delegates at

War Economy To Regulate Yule Buying

By JAMES MCCOOK
OTTAWA, Nov. 20.—(CP)—Santa Claus and the Prices Board will not be enemies hustled towards Christmas trade with mutual understanding and trust.

It was something of a saw off the Prices Board saws at the festive holiday season, but the board has controlled the prices of food and other essential goods and will be filled with utility goods.

USEFUL GIFTS
Gifts this year are expected to be mainly useful articles, things the recipients would have to buy for themselves. This said Board officials there should be no undue strain on available supplies and there will be a minimum of spending which in the light of war-time conditions might be called wasteful.

But while all the essentials of a merry Christmas are available, Board spokesmen said Canadians should not delude themselves with the thought that the fourth war Christmas will be as free and easy as those of 1939 or even 1940.

The price ceiling was in effect before Christmas last year, but since then supplies of many materials have been affected by the war, and the supply of industry and elimination of non-essential production have made long strings of rationed goods.

But here are two advantages of the war economy:

1.—The price ceiling affects food, clothing and consumer goods in general, including gifts.

2.—Whether the Christmas bird is a turkey, goose, duck or chicken, specific wholesale prices are fixed for the various meats across Canada.

PURCHASING SUPPLIES
Sage and spices have been scarce since under wartime restrictions but the board is purchasing through the Price Stability Corporation, curators and retailers, and direct from growers and processors and apportioning them fairly and equitably.

Goods sold only at the Christmas season come under the official classification of "seasonal goods" and under board regulations, if no similar articles were sold in the basic period from Sept. 1 to Oct. 1, 1941, the price must be approved by the appropriate board administrator in consultation with the administrator of retail trade, before they can be offered for sale.

"Over all these specific provisions is the broad principle applying to consumer goods in general, that manufacturers must continue to provide the same kinds and qualities of goods, and in the same quantities as in 1941, and that other sellers must so regulate their purchases of goods as to offer substantially the same range of goods as before, one board official said.

U.S. to Borrow $9,000,000,000 During Dec.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau last night announced that to meet the rising costs of the United States treasury would borrow approximately $9,000,000,000 during December.

From the total to be sought from all possible sources, represents the largest single borrowing in the history of the world-surpassing even the huge Liberty Loan floated in September, 1918, which raised more than $8,000,000,000.

Although announced for December, the borrowing actually covers a three-month financial period—November, December and January inclusive—Morgenthau said, adding that the treasury plans to finance the war on a bi-monthly plan after the latter month.

Some of the money will be raised by the sale of government bonds.

Other sources include the sale of government securities, the sale of government property, and the sale of government bonds.

The Inquiring Reporter

What is your opinion of the Dominion football final arrangements?

THE ANSWERS

TOM WILLIAMS, laborer: There has not been a Dominion final in the past 10 years that has been so important, so exciting, so full of interest, and so full of promise to end it has become an annual event. It is a game that is played in the heart of the East against West, year after year, and this leaves a rather sour taste in my mouth.

Prices of Bicycles Pegged by Board

The price of bicycles has been pegged for now on residents of the West will pay a maximum of $45 for a man's bicycle and a maximum of $35 for a lady's bicycle, it was announced Friday by the enforcement division of the board.

FOR SINKING U-BOAT

Canadian Sailors Receive Decorations

Commanding officer of H.M.C.S. Oakville, which rammed and sank a Nazi submarine, is Lieut.-Commander Clarence A. King, D.S.C., R.C.N.R., of Olive, B.C. (left). He is credited with sinking one sub in the last war. "The best shot in the navy" is what Gunner Reg. Adams is called by his mates. Adams, who was a member of the gun crew which put the submarine's deck gun out of action, is shown (centre), with his wife and daughter. For cool-headed work, Leading Stoker Davis Wilson (right) has been promoted to the rank of petty officer. He was on watch in the boiler room of the Oakville when the ramming attack smashed in her bottom plates, flooding No. 2 boiler room.

Beauty at the beach will look something like this, come summer, says Hollywood's Jerrie Buckley, who took a bit of black net, four decorative patches and whipped up this swim suit for herself.

The Top O' the Morning

Joan Leslie is her screen name but she is a native of Detroit and was born Brodell. She and her two pretty sisters, Betty and Mary, toured as entertainers, but when she was sixteen she was signed for pictures by Warners, her first part being that of the mountain sweetheart of Gary Cooper in "Sergeant York". She is starred with Ida Lupino and Dennis Morgan in "The Hard Way."

Atlantic Command Gunners Lose No Time

Gunners of the coastal batteries of the Atlantic Command are ready to fire within 45 seconds (and getting faster) of the time the alarm bells ring. No chances are taken if an unusual sound or sight is reported. This business of constantly being on the alert is a strain that is only equalled by the loneliness of the isolated outposts of defence. Photos show: (1) the duty watch spring to action, from the underground shelter, as the alarm is rung; (2) one of the big shells being placed in position in the breech; (3) from the battery observing post, Gunner E. G. McDonald, of Glace Bay, N.S., follows a possible target with the range-finder; (4) when the "all clear" is rung, the duty watch return to their shelter, leaving the solitary gun look-out, Gunner G. H. Martin, of Kentville, N.S., at his cold, desolate post; (5) Gunner N. J. Prattini, of Sudbury, Ont., checks the coastline and nearby sea with field glasses.

Too Ducky for Words

Last Inspection in Algiers

Fate of Nations Rests With Their Decisions

Shown above are the highest ranking United States and British Army, Navy and Air Force officers in this country at their weekly conference in Washington. From the plans and strategy discussed in these meetings come decisions on which the outcome of a battle or campaign, or the fate of one or many nations may depend. Left to right are Comm. the Hon. R. D. Coleridge; Rear Admiral W. R. Patterson, representing Admiral Sir Andrew Cunningham; Field Marshal Sir John Dill, former Chief of the Imperial General Staff; Brig. Vivian Dykes, secretary to the British conference; Lieut. Gen. G. N. MacReady, former Assistant Chief of the Imperial Staff; Air Marshal D. C. E. Evill, senior air staff officer of the R.A.F. Fighter Command in the Battle of Britain; Lieut. Col. T. W. Hammond, Jr.; Lieut. Gen. J. T. McNarney, Assistant Chief of Staff, U.S. Army; Gen. George C. Marshall, U.S. Army Chief of Staff; Brig. Gen. J. R. Deane, secretary of U.S. conference; Admiral William D. Leahy, Chief of Staff to President Roosevelt; Admiral Ernest J. King, Commander in Chief of U.S. Fleet and Chief of Naval Operations; Vice Admiral F. J. Horne, Vice Chief of Naval Operations.

French Tanks in Tunis

These French tanks, parading in Tunis, Tunisia, are aces in the fight against the Germans as French leaders in North Africa swing to the Allied cause. U.S. tanks are approaching inside Tunisia's borders, speeding to victorious junction with the British Eighth army.

Premier Lauds Construction of North Highway

Trading Post for the fabulous Klondike, following trails discovered through the years by missionaries, explorers and traders. Many died in the attempt to get through. Only Today, only forty-four years later, that same Yukon Trail is the Alcan Highway—a Victory road that leads from the arsenals of the Americas to the battlefields of the Orient, where a detestable enemy seeks to dominate all free men in a methodical bid for world power.

The story of this highway is a magnificent story of achievement—one that will be classed by historians of the future with the Great North Road of the Romans, the Panama Canal and the Burma Road. But it will be set above all these stirring examples of human effort because of the unparalleled speed with which it was built; because of the gigantic task of organization, maintenance and construction which it entailed, and because of the spirit in which virile men of two sister nations undertook the task of cutting through muskeg, tundra and forest in defence of the cherished freedom of mankind. Truly, in Channing's words, "Labor is discovered to be the grand conqueror."

WIN THROUGH

To the men who toiled and sweated at the manifold tasks along the Alcan Highway, I would say that their efforts exemplify in a practical manner the struggle which Christian civilization wages today. We go forth into the unknown, armed with determination and knowledge of what is right, and we face the difficulties of the trail in

In war, the Alcan highway provides the United Nations with a priceless strategic asset. Not only can we move men and materials to points from which they can strike at the enemy, but we can begin to tap the marvelous mineral resources of the Northwest Territories which in these exciting

The United States and Canada have been good neighbors for a long time. The Alcan highway will

The United States and Canada have been good neighbors for a long time. The Alcan highway will bring us in closer contact with each other, and as partners in a common cause we can and will build a new framework for the New Day.

GREAT JOB

The opening of this historic highway, is the opportune time to extend cordial greetings and personal appreciation to every man who had a hand in the job of building it, and especially to the men of the United States forces. They have done a great job in an excellent manner, seeking no publicity and no plaudits. Let them rest assured that through the centuries ahead, this historic road will be a permanent memorial to the Great Accomplishments of 1942.

To each and every one I say, "All success in your new ventures! God-speed, and God Bless you."
